Professional Programming Experience

Scout9— Contract Software Engineer

Tasked with improving the documentation page of a soon to be launched product for a startup company. Worked with an existing code base that used Next.js and documentation written in MDX.

Sep 2023 - Nov 2023

- Improved styling of the documentation page utilizing CSS and Tailwind creating a modern and more user friendly experience.
- Increased accessibility of the documentation by incorporating the Algolia Search Engine. This allowed users to quickly search and access different parts of the documentation using Algolia instant search.
- Demonstrated the ability to be a quick learner using technologies I had no prior experience with such as Next.js, MDX and Algolia, while working with and contributing to a code base that was new to me as well.

Capstone Project

PlusExp - Gamified Task Planner

<https://github.com/hennconnor/PlusExp>

Created a gamified daily task planner where users gain experience points for completing tasks. Experience points are used to increase user's level with the goal to increase incentives and make the process of completing daily tasks more enjoyable.

Implemented Technologies:

- React front end supported with Rails back end.
- Used ActiveRecord to manage migrations and model relations.
- Full login system with Bcrypt gem used to encrypt user login information stored in Rails back end.
- React Recoil used for state management throughout application.
- React drag and drop beautiful used to incorporate drag and drop mechanics for tasks.
- Cloudinary used to allow users to upload images from their computer drive as profile pictures.
